Dogs were secured from the prison farm, which adjacent to the house, and put upon the trail of the marauders. Two negroes were tracked and captured, but proving to be men of good reputation they were released on yesterday.

Mr. Edwards is at a loss to understand the affair. He does not know of any reason for the attempted crime and as for the men arrested the first night he does not know who they are. They were trailed by the dogs. The fire was started in both cases with kerosene.

GRAND JURY ABANDONS INVESTIGATION OF CLUBS

After Returning Two No Bills, Jury Adjourns for the Term.

Again the grand jury's probe of looser clubs, instigated by the Anti-Saloon league, collapsed yesterday when the jury returned two no-bills against the Theatrical and Metropolitan clubs, and thereafter adjourned for the term. No decision was reached in the investigation of the Piedmont Driving club. A number of witnesses were called in the looser club cases, including Chief James L. Beavers and Detective Chief Newport A. Lanford.

Following Friday's session the jury went before Judge Pendleton, asking that he discharge them from further duty. In accepting the jury's present position, Judge Pendleton praised the body highly for its effective campaign against the alleged bond syndicate.

A number of suggestions were made by the jury, among them being requests that the county jail be equipped with an incense ward and padded cell for emergency cases; for the appropriation of $3,000 annually for secret service agents; for the police department, and for plans for the caring of drug victims in the county jail.

The jury also recommended that both

LID CLAMPED TIGHT. Prohibitory Tax on Billiards and Pool at Cordelle.

The new administration has named the tax at $100 for the first table and $50 for each additional table. The owners of such parlors in the city are considerably wrought up over the action of the officials.

The term just ended has been a very satisfactory one in every respect. The barracks and boarding department have been filled to the limit and President Horton expressed himself well pleased with the work done and progress made as well as with the spirit with which both students and faculty have gone through their duties. It is expected that the spring term of the college will be unusually well attended since all the old pupils will return and a number of new ones will come in.

Mrs. Leslie Files Amended Petition.

Says the Divorce Petition of Her Husband Is Desire for Revenge.

Charging that she is now deprived of the money with which she supported two sisters, one of whom she was educating in college, by the loss of her position as head clerk of the city school system, which loss she attributes to the "scandalous accusations" made by her husband, Mrs. Ethel Leslie yesterday filed an amendment to her divorce petition against G. L. Leslie.

Mrs. Leslie now asks for alimony and attorney's fees. She accuses her husband of falsely and maliciously charging her with dissipation and scandalous conduct purely as a stroke of vengeance for the divorce suit she filed against him several months ago. She likewise avers that she lost her position with the school system on account of the sensational charges.

Mrs. Leslie declares in her suit that she made $150 monthly, all of which sum she contributed to the support of two younger sisters, the elder of whom she was sending to college. Her own livelihood, she avers, was gained from $17.50 monthly rental of property she owns in Kirkwood.

"The gift to send the dearest friend—"

Go to your nearest news-dealer, hand him $3.00, and give him the name and address of your best friend with the request that he have THE LITERARY DIGEST sent to him for a year. If there is no news-dealer accessible, send the money to us and we will take care of your request. We will put your friend's name on our mailing list and notify him on a neatly engraved Christmas card to whom he is indebted for the favor.

Most of us have a friend living at a distance whom we feel like remembering at this season. Why not give something that will not only furnish a momentary thrill of gratitude, but, coming once a week for the next year, will furnish 52 reminders of your thoughtfulness?

One well-known manufacturer has made it a habit for the past eighteen years to send us a list of from fifteen to twenty-five friends whom he remembers in this way.

THE LITERARY DIGEST is the distinct American mouthpiece for all sides of great events. It does not express opinions of its own; it gathers all the opinions on important subjects as published in the press throughout the world, and prints them in an absolutely impartial manner. It is Public Opinion crystallized.

A million thoughtful readers depend upon it weekly for all the facts in the War News, with Maps, Cartoons, etc. They glean from it the latest developments in Science, Invention, Politics, Religion, Art, Literature, Drama, Sports—every topic that has an interest for mankind—except the sordid or vicious.

Big Professional and Business Men, Scores of Them, are Writing:

"I would hardly know how to do without it."

"Meets the needs of the busy man as nothing else does."

"I like it because I prefer the simple truth once a week rather than a daily hash of horrors and crazy rumors."

"It is impartial without being dull, and thoroughly interesting without being sensational."

"If I was confined to two papers, one would be the local daily and the other 'The Literary Digest.'"

"I could not get along without it."

"There are two things indispensable to my comfort—'The Literary Digest' and my dinner—the 'Digest' first."

"Dear old 'Digest!' I have known it ever since its first appearance and hope to keep up our acquaintance till death do us part!"
